EMERGING SPORTS AND GAMES

Cardiogoal Sport

Cardiogoal is a new team sport that pits two mixed teams of 6 players against each other: 4 players on the field and 2 substitutes who enter and leave freely. The game consists of passing the ball through one of the three colored circles (yellow-blue-red) placed vertically at a total height of 3 meters. Each ring color corresponds to a number of points (red: 15 points, blue: 10 points, yellow: 5 points). The team with the most points wins the game. Cardiogoal is a sport inspired by the Luc-léger test (endurance and speed test) and various other sports such as Ultimate, basketball, handball, or American football. Based on attack-defense, it offers a fast, effective game for cardio, endurance, speed, resistance, skill, technique, team spirit and fair play development (contact is prohibited). Cardiogoal can be played from a very young age and is also suitable for wheelchair players. This sport can be practiced anywhere: indoor, on grass, on sand or on synthetic ground.

Cardiogoal Mini Goal

This lightweight, easy-to-assemble mobile goal is a valuable and easy tool for working on motor skills as tossing a ball to a vertical target center hole (diameter: 30cm). This goal also allows you to work on skills as coordination, memorization, color and number recognition, point scoring and first calculations. RampShot

Discover how to play!

2-on-2 indoor or outdoor tossing game that keeps players active and highly involved. RampShot is a very interactive game that develops motor skills, hand-eye coordination, teamwork and good fun. Three out of four players are involved in every play in RampShot which allows for increased physical activity and player involvement. Players toss and catch the ball for points and catch rebounds off the ramps for extra shots. The grooved top of the ramp guarantees unpredictable bounces which keep players on the move.

How to play?

Teammates stand on opposite sides of the playing area and work together to score points by tossing and/or catching the balls. 3 points for a shot directly in the net. 1 point if your teammate catches the ball on a fly after bouncing off the top of the ramp. If the shooter's toss is too short and hits the front of the ramp, the ball will bounce back in the shooter's direction. The opposing team member can now come in and catch the ball to gain an extra shot for their team.

The first team to 15 points wins!

RampShot offers 3 different versions of the game to play to accommodate all skill levels (see instruction guide and online videos). The game is best suited for children 10 years of age and above. RampShot ramps are tough, portable, lightweight, stackable, and weather resistant.

School Kendo

Martial arts have three dimensions which are combat, technique and self-defense. The purpose of Kendo in schools is to show that the strength ratio that is typical of martial arts can be used to stimulate the capacity for thinking. For this to happen, there must be no winners or losers, but learners.

The aim is to provide a reflection where school kendo is practiced as a game of touches, tricks and interactions. It is about touching the other in the context of adapted confrontations but respecting physical (controlling the touch) and social (respecting the other) equilibrium.

Martial arts are conceived as methods of education, and the physical and sports activities they use remain means of education. In this regard, we recommend that the practice of kendo remains supervised.

The golden rules:

- Do not hurt, do not hurt yourself, do not let hurt;
- the stake of the fight is not worth the other one's integrity;
- free choice of partner ;
- the strongest one puts himself at the level of the other one to make him progress;
- to know how to interrupt the fight appropriately.

EMERGING SPORTS AND GAMES

KIN-BALL® Sport*

Great teamsport played with three teams at the same time on one court, using a giant and light ball. The serving team calls the color of one of the opposite teams of its choice. The team that has been called has to catch the ball before it touches the floor and then serves it back to another team. If a team lets the ball fall on the floor, the two other teams score one point each. Players can use their whole body to keep the ball off the floor but only the upper part to serve the ball.

The size and the lightness of the ball, along with the rules of the game, allow everyone to participate in the action; everybody touches the ball and every team scores points. This sport reaches the important educational objectives of cooperation, fitness, inclusion and sportsmanship.

Tchoukball Game

Tchoukball is a ball and team sport played with the help of two inclined frames that "rebound" the ball. It is characterized by the suppression of any form of physical aggression between opponents. This game has been discovered in Switzerland and promotes fair play: 'we play with rather than against', with 'no aggression, and no contact'. To score a point, the attacking team makes passes. It must shoot the ball onto the frame so that, after the rebound, the ball touches the ground before being intercepted by the opposing team.

Playing area: 40x20m or 20x20m including 2 forbidden zones in the shape of a semi-circle with a radius of 3m.

Two tchoukball frames inclined at 55° (2 frames for bipolar, only one for unipolar).

Two teams of maximum 9 players + 3 reserves. Substitution takes place in the middle of the field only after a point is scored.

3 referees - 1 handball. Playtime: for men, 3x15min, for ladies and under 16 year-olds: 3x12min - with 5 min rest.

Mini Tchoukball Frame

Thanks to its smaller size this Mini Tchoukball Frame can be easily stored and transported.

■ Nimbly® - Educational Play Mat

Move and learn while having fun with Nimbly®!

This innovative mat is designed for children between 2 and 10 years old, able-bodied or less able-bodied. It can be played alone or in groups with a maximum of 12 players. Developed in Canada (Quebec) by Dr Mariève Blanchet, a researcher in children's motor skills, Nimbly® is particularly suitable for use in schools, extracurricular activities, therapeutic and family settings.

The Nimbly® mat aims to improve infant motor and cognitive skills in a fun way. It makes it possible to work on various skills such as recognising colors, shapes, numbers and letters; it stimulates the memory and learning of language and math skills.

In this game, the participants are «frogs» whose only instruction is not to fall into the water. One player at a time is on the mat and starts on the waterlily line in the center of the mat. The other players and/or the adult use the cards delivered with the game to specify the subject to work on and the different challenges to achieve.

The aim of the game is that the player finds the right answer and moves by jumping to it. Other variants of movement are possible to develop the child's motor skills.

The upperside of the mat, made of polyester, offers a pleasant touch and the underside, made of natural rubber, is antislip. The mat can be used both indoors and outdoors. It can also be machine-washed and can be folded or rolled up without any risk of damage.

The Nimbly® kit includes 1 activity mat (183x91cm), game instructions (in 8 different languages : EN/ FR/ DE/ NL/ ES/ DA/ FI/ SV) and 108 cards with learning materials and challenges (the level of difficulty is specified on each card).

Nimbly® - Educational Play Mat

Move and learn while having fun with Nimbly®!

This innovative mat is designed for children between 2 and 10 years old, able-bodied or less able-bodied. It can be played alone or in groups with a maximum of 12 players. Developed in Canada (Quebec) by Dr Mariève Blanchet, a researcher in children's motor skills, Nimbly® is particularly suitable for use in schools, extracurricular activities, therapeutic and family settings.

The Nimbly® mat aims to improve infant motor and cognitive skills in a fun way. It makes it possible to work on various skills such as recognising colors, shapes, numbers and letters; it stimulates the memory and learning of language and math skills.

In this game, the participants are "frogs" whose only instruction is not to fall into the water. One player at a time is on the mat and starts on the waterlily line in the center of the mat. The other players and/or the adult use the cards delivered with the game to specify the subject to work on and the different challenges to achieve.

The aim of the game is that the player finds the right answer and moves by jumping to it. Other variants of movement are possible to develop the child's motor skills.

The upperside of the mat, made of polyester, offers a pleasant touch and the underside, made of natural rubber, is antislip. The mat can be used both indoors and outdoors. It can also be machine-washed and can be folded or rolled up without any risk of damage.

The Nimbly® kit includes 1 activity mat (183x91cm), game instructions (in 8 different languages : EN/ FR/ DE/ NL/ ES/ DA/ FI/ SV) and 108 cards with learning materials and challenges (the level of difficulty is specified on each card).

Foot-Basket Game

A unique combination of football and basketball! We believe that once you try it, you'll agree that Foot-Basket is the most fun-filled, space efficient, cost effective football game ever designed. On top of it all, it develops kicking, passing, trapping and heading skills in an «inclusive» combination of the design of the game and its goal. Game rules are quite similar to regular football. The difference with football is that everyone is shooting at a single round goal that stands in the middle of the field. This game is also great for inclusion since topnotch football players can have fun together with non-football players. The game has even proved exciting to highly skilled players who can use the goal (even with traditional size 5 balls) to perfect the accuracy and consistency of high arching passing and shooting skills. The size and height of the Foot-Basket Goal has also proven to have a magnetic attraction for young basketball players.

Activities like manipulating a Tangle help children and adults stay engaged and focused by enhancing the attention. Tangles also help to relieve minor stress, to improve the range of hand motion and to strengthen finger muscles.

Why vibration?

Did you know vibration offers calming and organizing input for most people?

The activation of touch receptors and deep receptors is why massage is so relaxing and invigorating.

The mouth and face have enormous sensitivity. By providing chew opportunities that involve vibration, very often a child can organize and calm down. It is important to allow individuals to explore vibration on their own terms and pace.

Whether an individual has hypersensitivity or hyposensitivity, vibration helps to "normalize" sensation.
